My background spans diverse industries, including finance, healthcare, and e-commerce, where I have honed my skills in various programming languages and technologies such as Java, Python, and JavaScript. I am proficient in both frontend and backend development and bring a solid foundation in coding, problem-solving, and algorithm design.

In my previous roles, I have contributed to projects that required collaboration across cross-functional teams and high standards of security and scalability. A notable project I worked on involved the development of a financial management platform for a leading banking institution, where I helped deliver a streamlined, secure solution that enhanced both operational efficiency and the customer experience.

My experience in DevOps with Punch Cool Agency and Leaumax Technology has further strengthened my skill set. In these roles, I managed CI/CD pipelines, optimized cloud deployment processes, and automated testing frameworks, which improved product delivery times and system reliability. I am experienced in database management and have a strong commitment to delivering scalable and resilient systems.
